Dr. Harris Got the Prize.

In our report of the premiums awarded at the county fair it appeared that, in class C.—poultry, Mrs. W. A. Layne got the prize of $1 for best pair of turkeys. This was an error. Dr. L. J. Harris, of near the city, took the premium for best pair bronze turkeys.

Judge Knight Heard Statement and Set Girl Free.

Unexpectedly and without warning to the manager of the Parker Carnival Co., Miss Madeline McIntyre, the young lady whose specialty was to loop-the-loop in the ball down an inclined plane, left the company here Friday and went to Paris, Ky., and joined another company there. After her departure a member of the company, by the name of W. A. Snider, went to Judge Knight and swore out a warrant of arrest, stating that the young lady had stolen a valuable diamond ring. His honor was loth to issue the warrant, but so persistent was Snider that he yielded. Officer Booth Morris, armed with his warrant of arrest, went to Paris and returned to the city Monday night with his fair prisoner.

The young lady was not taken to prison but spent the night at Hotel Latham. Tuesday afternoon she appeared in the city court and made her statement.

From what she said it looks like her accuser was actuated by jealousy. She did not deny taking the diamond ring with her, but said that Snyder had loaned it to her and that she had been wearing it for some time. After hearing both sides of the case Judge Knight became convinced that there was really nothing criminal in the case and dismissed it. The young lady took the 5:18 afternoon train and will continue her daring act with the company with which she now has an engagement. She returned the ring to the owner, who will, no doubt, be more particular in loaning rings and swearing out warrants in the future.

The little episode was the cause of a long and expensive trip to the show woman as well as to the commonwealth and the loop-the-loopist will doubtless avoid anything of the kind in the future.

LARGE CROWD

Inspects the New Offices of L. & N. R. R.

Tuesday night Mr. J. C. Hooe, the local agent of the L. & N., kept open house for everybody. He had about 400 callers. All the furniture had been received and everything was in apple-pie order for the reception of visitors. Lebecheur's band, which is one of the finest in this section, discoursed the sweetest of music, and a more jolly and delighted crowd could not be found.

Callers began putting in their appearance as early as 7 o'clock and continued to go and come until the clock in the tower told the hour of eleven.

The doors of every department were thrown wide open to the public and Mr. Hooe excelled himself in playing the agreeable host to all.

The new and commodious offices and the freight room, reaching to Eighth street, were made light as day from the innumerable electric bulbs, the clerks wore their most pleasing smiles, agent Hooe was in high, good humor and took pleasure in answering the hundreds of questions put to him, while the inspiring notes of Lebecheur's band floated on the ambient air, and the chattering, moving throng were lavish in their praises of everything to be seen. But there was no happier soul there than Mr. Hooe. His dream of years had been realized. He had planned and labored for years to get such a building for freight and offices, and his face beams with pleasure at the interest of the people who had called to see his new quarters and who warmly congratulated him on his success.

Bowling Green's horse show is in progress this week at the fair grounds.

DEATH OF
MRS. LACKEY.

Was Ill Six Weeks Before Being Taken to Nashville.

SHE WAS 52 YEARS OLD.

Funeral Services at Pembroke and Burial Took Place in Hopkinsville.

Mrs. Tenora Elgin Lackey, the wife of Dr. G. W. Lackey, of Pembroke, died at a sanitarium in Nashville Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock, in the 52nd year of her age.

Mrs. Lackey had been ill with typhoid fever six weeks before being carried to Nashville, and had not fully regained her strength when the physicians decided it would be best for her to undergo an operation at a sanitarium. After entering the sanitarium it was not deemed wise to perform an operation and she was put under medical treatment. For awhile her condition seemed to improve, and the day before her death was the most hopeful one after reaching Nashville. As the night waned, alarming symptoms appeared and she passed peacefully to rest at 2 o'clock.

The remains were brought to Pembroke Tuesday and funeral services were held in the Methodist church yesterday morning conducted by Rev. Dr. Gill, of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, and Rev. A. D. Litchfield, of the Methodist church. After the services the body, accompanied by relatives and many loving friends, was brought here and interred in Hope-well.

Mrs. Lackey was a model Christian woman. In early life she united with the Cumberland Presbyterian church and was always active in the work of her denomination. Always bright and vivacious, generous and kind, she endeared herself to everyone coming within the sphere of her influence.

In 1884 she became the second wife of Dr. G. W. Lackey, one of the prominent physicians of the county, who, with her three children, Misses Ruby and Camille, and George, survives her.

She was the elder sister of Mrs. W. B. Kennedy, of this city. She was a sister of Rev. Virgil Elgin, of the Methodist church; Messrs. G. W. Elgin, of Madisonville, Samuel P. Elgin, of this county, and W. S. Louis, Edgar and Frank Elgin, of this city. Her aged mother, who now makes her home here with her sons, Edgar and Frank, also survives her.

AGED 67 YEARS.

Jas. L. McLeur Dies at Kansas City.

A dispatch from Kansas City, Mo., to the Louisville Times Tuesday, announced the death of James L. McLeur, a former citizen of this place, at the age of 67 years. Mr. McLeur was a brother of John McLeur. His father, Jack McLeur, kept what was then known as the "McLeur House," the old Phoenix hotel. In 1862 the family left here and went to Missouri. At the breaking out of the civil war James McLeur enlisted in the Confederate army and attained the rank of major. After the war he located at Kansas City and engaged in the insurance business, in which he was engaged when he died. He was born here March 6, 1838.

The Sick.

Prof. Wm. H. Harrison, of Russellville, is reported to be very ill with appendicitis. His sister, Mrs. J. W. Downer, left for Russellville yesterday to be with him.

The condition of Mrs. M. C. Long was unimproved yesterday afternoon and it is not expected that she will survive but a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Tate both have been quite sick at their home on West Seventh street. Mrs. Tate is some better, but Mr. Tate is still quite ill with fever.
